8:00 AM Vendor Area Open

8:00-9:45 AM Concurrent Sessions

Bee Keeping in the 18th and 19th Centuries

Presenter: Terry Sargent

Bees and bee keeping have been a quintessential human pursuit for thousands of years. Once a common backyard garden enterprise, bees became big business by the early 19th century. Explore the tools and technology of 19th century beekeeping and how they are applicable to your site.

Ice Harvesting, An Ice Show

Presenter: Anne Zimmerman, Cedar Lake Historical Association, (Retired)

Join us for this slide show presentation on the history of ice harvesting in Northwest Indiana. Session includes a 30-minute video of ice harvesting as well as explanations of processes used in commercial ice harvesting.

Creating An Online Training Manual

Presenter: Patricia Kennedy Green, Volkening Heritage Farm

Creating and maintaining paper manuals can be a burden on staff, volunteers and the environment. After years of printing and handing out 100+ page interpretive manuals, the staff of Volkening Heritage Farm decided to go a different way. This session will explore the concept of online training manuals using VHF's "PAL Portal" as an example of how you can create your own.

9:45-10:00 AM Break

10:00-11:15 AM Concurrent Sessions

Managing Honey Bee Colonies in the 21st Century

Presenter: Krispn Given, Purdue University

This practical follow up to Bee Keeping in the 18th and 19th centuries will discuss modern bee keeping practices and challenges.

Midewin's Past, Present, and Future

Presenter: Wendy Tresouthick, Midewin National Tallgrass Prairie

This presentation includes a slide show about the history of Midewin National Tallgrass Prairie, what they are working on now and where they hope to go. Presentation includes the introduction of bison to the park, why they brought them to the prairie, and what they hope to accomplish with their presence.

The 500

Presenter: Monique Ingot, Volkening Heritage Farm

It's a typical Sunday at your local living history site. A weekend staff person opens the building and checks in the one volunteer scheduled to work that day, and then it happens. 500 visitors descend and "Katy bar the door" or the artifacts will walk away. Has this ever happened to you? Explore techniques and solutions for dealing with overwhelming visitor numbers with shrinking volunteer levels and staff stagnancy. This session could save your site and your sanity!

11:15-1:30 PM Break

11:30 AM-12:30 PM Plenary Session

Interpreting Agriculture:

A Humanist Perspective

Presenter: Dr. Debra A. Reid, The Henry Ford

12:30-2:00 PM Past Presidents Luncheon

- Interpretation/Music/Art/Material Culture
- Leadership/Supervision
- Agriculture/Gardens/Food

3:00-3:15 PM Break

3:15-4:30 PM Concurrent Sessions

Arlington Club Beverages

Presenter: Dan Schoeneberg, Arlington Heights Park District
F.W. "Pop" Muller first delivered his soda along the dirt roads of Chicago's Northwest Suburbs in 1872. For over 120 years the Arlington Club Beverage Company sold their unique refreshment before going out of business in the 1990's. Today, Muller's original soda factory is a part of the Arlington Heights Historical Museum, a cooperative effort of the Historical Society, Park District and Village of Arlington Heights. In 2016 the Museum re-introduced Muller's iconic sodas for sale. Explore this successful venture as well as Pop Muller's intriguing story.

Steelmakers and Steel Towns: An Overview of Indiana Historic Steel Region

Presenter: Stephan G. McShane, Calumet Regional Archives, Indiana University Northwest
Using historical photographs, this presentation will trace the beginning history of the steel industry in Lake County Indiana along with their accompanying steel town of East Chicago, Indiana Harbor and Gary.

Everglades of the North: The Story of the Grand Kankakee Marsh

Presenter: Jeff Manes
This documentary film chronicles the history of the great Kankakee Marsh. Join freelance writer Jeff Manes for a discussion of the making of this film.

6:00 PM Cash Bar

7:00-10:00 PM Dinner, Dance

Wear your most successful period clothing

We invite you to wear your most successful period clothing. It could be you're most accurate, most worn out or the clothing you just wear the most when interpreting. Prizes and bragging rights will be awarded.

MOMCC SHOWCASE

Take Part in the MOMCC Site Showcase a continuous loop DVD of participating sites shown throughout the conference.

Just send 15-20 slides with your site name on every slide, including a title slide. Share your historic buildings, programs, displays & exhibits, staff & volunteers- whatever you feel shows off your site.

Not technically inclined? Just send the images and slide title information and we'll do it for you.

Take part in this opportunity, Contact Mike Follin at mfollin@ohiohistory.org
Completed slides or images must be received two weeks prior to conference date.

Saturday, March 11

8:00 AM-12:00 PM Vendor Area Open

9:00-10:15 AM Concurrent Sessions

Geschirr Macher, Re-Interpreting Your Historic Structures.

Presenters: Jonathan Kuester, Dan Hess, Volkening Heritage Farm

Follow the staff of VHF through an intriguing research project that ended in the reinterpreting of the Hattendorf summer kitchen into the Yeargin Geschirrwirks.

Bringing Natives to Your Park

Presenters: Cathy Misch, Buckley Homestead, Joy Bower, Gibson Woods Nature Preserve

Take a virtual tour through Buckley Homestead. This session will highlight native beds and other plantings throughout the park. Get tips on how to get started including references and nurseries that carry native plant stock.

Dressing Alice: Children's Clothes in the 19th Century

Presenter: Betsy Urven

Presenting child interpreters at our historic sites can be one of our most powerful interpretive tools. While decades of research has gone into properly dressing adult interpreters, little if any work has been done on children's clothing. Betsy will discuss the trials and tribulations of dressing her Granddaughter Alice to interpret multiple 19th century time periods. Learn about children's fashion, and patterns of the 19th century.

10:30-11:45 AM Concurrent Sessions

Duneland Dynamics

Presenter: Kenneth J. Schoon, Indiana University Northwest

This presentation integrates dozens of colorful scenes of today's Indiana Dunes along with a description of their ecological importance and stories from yesteryear. Topics include fur trading and a small French "fort," a Revolutionary skirmish, hermits and developers, explosions and scams, railroad expansion and President Lincoln's Duneland funeraland much much more...

Native American Gardening: History and Interpretation for Today's Garden

Presenter: Cindy Deardorff

Learn about the Three Sisters Garden for your site. Discover Native heirloom seeds. Session will include information on tools, heirloom seeds and research material, and the Wild Ones Organization.

"Its What We Don't Say and Do":

Nonverbal Communication in Interpretation

Presenter: Michael Follin, The Ohio History Connection

The ability to understand and use nonverbal communication, or body language, is a powerful tool that can help interpreters connect with visitors, express ideas, thoughts, concepts and build better relationships/connections in interpretation. All of our nonverbal behaviors, the gestures we make, the way we sit/stand, how fast or how loud we talk, how much eye contact we make, send strong messages. Learn to control and use these behaviors in a quickly changing culture.
